

MABALACAT CITY COLLEGE

MCC-FOREIGN SEASONAL WORKERS IN SOUTH KOREA

The Mabalacat City Government's Seasonal Farmers Workers Program is more than just a training initiative; it's a lifeline that connects our local farmers to sustainable opportunities abroad and strengthens our community here at home. At the heart of this program is Mabalacat City College (MCC), working in close partnership with the City Agriculture Office, City Public Employment Services Office (PESO), and successful cities in South Korea. MCC's role is vital, serving not only as an educational institution but as a bridge that supports our farmers in gaining the skills and confidence they need to thrive.

MCC stands as a committed partner in preparing farmers for this journey. Before they even set foot in South Korea, our farmers receive in-depth training at MCC, covering essential skills like Korean agricultural practices, language basics, and cultural orientation. Through this preparation, MCC ensures that each farmer feels ready and equipped to navigate a foreign workplace and fully benefit from the experience. This approach reflects MCC's mission to empower every member of the community and shows that our college's impact reaches far beyond traditional classroom walls.

But MCC's involvement goes beyond the logistics of training; it's about fostering a sense of pride and purpose. By helping our farmers access international work opportunities, MCC is empowering them to bring back not just new skills but new hope for their families and communities. Their time in South Korea allows them to learn innovative techniques and practices that they can share locally, enhancing the agricultural output and sustainability of Mabalacat City.

Ultimately, MCC's role in this program exemplifies its deep commitment to the community's economic and social well-being. Through education and support, Mabalacat City College is helping to transform lives and create a brighter, more sustainable future for our farmers and their families, bringing positive change to our city as a whole.
