#SuperJuana highlights Women's Month Webinar

MCC External Affairs with the Internationalization unit concluded the month-long celebration of National Women's Month with no other than Dr. Amy Agigian, PhD. - a #SuperJuana from Suffolk University, Boston, Massachusetts USA. Dr. Agigian is the Director of the Center for Women's Health and Human Rights and also the Director of Our Bodies, Ourselves Today. She is an Associate Professor of the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice of the same university.

The Women's Month Culminating Webinar highlighted the Socio-Cultural Aspects of Maternal Health and brought into the fore some issues that face women relative to maternal care and human rights. Dr. Amy discussed the different cases that undermine the well being of women who are pregnant and the choices that they have to make for themselves in order to remain mentally and physically well.

Questions from viewers were also entertained and answered by Dr. Amy as she also excitedly thanked Mabalacat City College for the opportunity to speak for and on behalf of women.

Dr. Amy is one #SuperJuana who proves that as a woman, she can handle both a career and family life for as long as she puts her heart and mind into it. She invites all women to be more empowered to embrace change and make work change for one's own well-being.

Mabalacat City College, the Office of the Vice President for External Affairs, and the Internationalization Unit go full gear head on in their Internationalization quest for more #thinkASEANfeelASEAN programs and advocacies. The College recently concluded a webinar on the same promotion featuring "UNDERSTANDING ASEAN Culture" last March 16, 2021 with no less than Ms. Anindya Putri Melati as guest lecturer. Ms. Melati is the Associate Officer for Culture and Information Division of the ASEAN Secretariat in Jakarta, Indonesia.

Ms. Melati shared how as members of the ASEAN region, we can all do our share in preserving ASEAN culture and promote it to the rest of the world through songs, dances, traditions and even food. She also shared her thoughts on how to be a "culture-preneur" – a word Ms. Melati coined herself in her suggestions on how the ASEAN youth can help promote the culture to the world together with understanding, appreciation, participation, and cultural advocacies.

The webinar was an afternoon of discoveries and newfound drive for more ASEAN enculturation

MCC sends student to the Virtual Summer School in Malaysia

Mabalacat City College, through its Internationalization Office, is set to send a student to the Virtual Summer School of the University of Nottingham in Malaysia.

The University of Nottingham used to hold the annual summer school in face-to-face modality. However, this year, due to the health restrictions brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic, the University opted to cater the program to an online experience.

After a stringent screening of applicants, the Internationalization and Scholarships and Grants offices nominated Mr. Jim Bryn G. Balatero, a Bachelor of Science in Education, Major in Social Studies, for admission at the University of Nottingham's summer program.

Last June 17, 2021, he was formally accepted to participate on the course Politics, Culture, and the Media in Southeast Asia and will join eight students coming from the United Kingdom and one from Indonesia from July 5-16, 2021.

Helping the MCCians to be exposed on the International Summer School program is just one among the many mobility programs of Mabalacat City College for the students. The whole MCC community extends its best of luck to Mr. Jim Bryn Balatero.

MCC Student to dialogue with Global Youth Leaders

MCC continues to expose the faculty and students to international learning opportunities. Just weeks ago, a student was accepted at the University of Nottingham Malaysia's Summer Program, a number of students participated in the EU Whiz (European Union Quiz Bee), and again very recently, another student, Mr. Christopher Galang of the BSED Major in Social Studies Program, was recently accepted as a delegate to the Asia World Model United Nations (AWMUN) 2021 on August 27-29 via online.

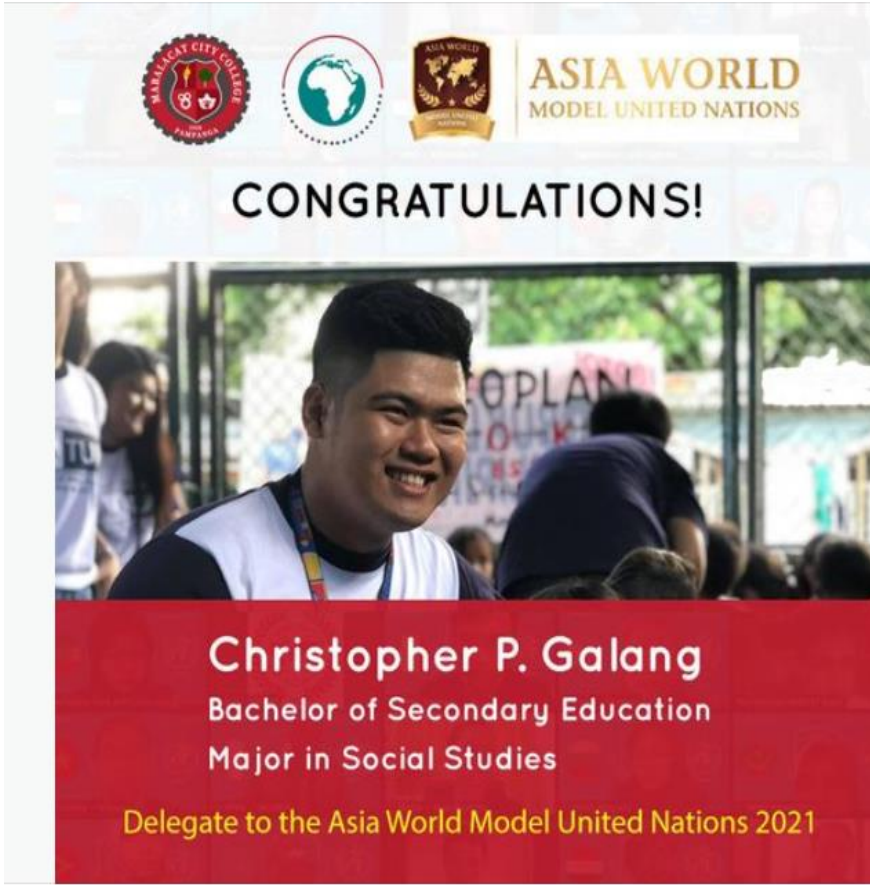

The occasion provides opportunity for young leaders to express their perspectives and deepen their understanding on global issues. Mr. Galang is set to join the discourses on Preventing Terrorists from acquiring mass destructive weapons under the Disarmament and International Security Council of Asia World Model United Nations. Delegates are expected to propose programs and formulate statements that shall contribute in building a sustainable world.

MCC takes pride as its student gets the chance to speak to the world and share not only Filipino thoughts but local insights as well. MCC remains committed in bridging the students and faculty to the global community.

Mabalacat City College and Lone Star College Ink Partnership in Houston, Texas

Texas, U.S.A. - Mabalacat City College (MCC) and Lone Star College (LSC) signed an MoU on June 14, 2022 (local time) to seal the collaboration and agenda the partner institutions plan to undertake.

Present during the signing were LSC's Dr. Dwight Smith, Mr. Mario Castillo, Dr. Carolyn Ho, Dr. Katharine Karuso and MCC's College President - Dr. Michelle Aguilar - Ong, who were all delighted at the idea of finally moving ahead at the implementation of the various programs lined up in the collaboration. The signing was virtually attended by some members of the MCC faculty and administration.

Through EducationUSA, a program of the US Embassy which promotes U.S. higher education to students around the world by offering current information about opportunities to study at accredited postsecondary institutions in the United States, both institutions were able to connect and join in collaborative projects. Months ago, even before the MoU, MCC and LSU already conducted collaborative projects such as the synchronous classes on ECE121 and the Collaborative Online International Learning or COIL to name a few. Edward Inong, a faculty member of MCC who participated virtually in the MoU signing said that, "...it is great to learn not only from one another here in MCC but also from exceptional professors on the other side of the world, particularly from Lone Star College." Another MCC faculty member Edmon Sampana who participated in the synchronous classes on ECE121 mentioned that, "this exposure or experience with the international academic community... is a good start to a more meaningful exchange of ideas, techniques, methodologies in teaching and learning."

Lone Star College System is the largest community college in Texas with over 80,000 students and is the fastest-growing community college system. LSC is known for being progressive and innovative. It provides high-quality, low-cost academic transfer and career training education and is committed to student success preparing students for careers in high-demand industries. It ranked third nationally in conferring Associate Degrees among all community colleges and has been named as one of the Best Workplaces in Texas by Fortune Magazine.

According to LSC COO and General Counsel Mr. Mario Castillo, "...our best students are culturally competent students. In order to have culturally competent students, you have to have internationalization, you have to have an understanding and knowledge of the world around you... I can tell you that I have benefitted from the exchange personally of faculty knowledge across international lines... We believe that having international partnerships is a part of cultural competency in an increasingly globalized world."

MCC President Dr. Aguilar-Ong said, "there are so many things we can learn from American community colleges: from structure, governance, down to day-to-day operation. During my visit, I was very impressed with Lone Star College System's current undertakings that we want to model it in the Philippines. I am sure that this partnership would not only benefit MCC but the whole Philippine education system."
